

BISHOP STREET PATCHING STIRS ARNOLD'S WRATH

Objects to City Engineer Having Done Job Without O. K. of Road Committee

Patching repairs on Bishop street, and Mayor Lane's New Year's ball entered into a discussion that arose Friday night when Supervisor Charles Arnold called Engineer L. M. Whitehouse to task for doing certain street jobs without consulting the road committee.

Bishop street was the special crow which Mr. Arnold had to pick with the engineer, men in the engineer's department having just completed a two-day job of patching on this thoroughfare.

"I contend," said Mr. Arnold, "that when the engineer goes ahead with a project of this kind without ever taking the trouble to consult the members of the road committee that he is doing an injustice to the committee, and I believe the rest of the committee and the supervisors as well will bear me out in my contention."

Whitehouse retorted that he had told Supervisor Ahia of the patching work to be done on Bishop, and that he considered the street an emergency case that needed immediate treatment.

"You talk to me by phone two or three times a week," Arnold went on; "you had every opportunity to tell me of this switch of plans but you did not do it."

"If this thing keeps up we might as well not have a road committee, but I shall stop the practice by resolution and the vote of the other supervisors if I have to do it."

Whitehouse informed the irritated supervisor that the work is as good or a little better than other similar jobs in the city and that it will not cost more than $50.

Arnold thought that $50 would be nearer a correct figure. He stated that he was not taking a slam at the mayor's ball, which he supposed is an annual custom that must be lived up to, but he does object to having the engineer go ahead with such work without consulting the committee when other work already planned is having to wait. It is not only an injustice to the supervisors which the engineer is heaping upon them, but an injustice to the citizens of the city as well, he said.

Whitehouse, not deigning to answer, turned to the ice water delivery in the corner for a drink, and Arnold sat down. Mayor Lane did not comment upon either side of the question.

SANTA CLAUS AT EHLERS' STORE

Will Give Bags of Candy to Children Tonight; Some Suggestions for Presents

In the store of B. F. Ehlers & Company, 1026 Fort street, there is such a large stock of useful gifts for Christmas that it would be very easy to get something for every one to whom a gift was to be sent, without leaving the store. They have among other things a stock of leather handbags fitted with tools and manicure sets, and sets in leather cases.

The merchandise order prepared by Ehlers in such form that it is redeemable at any time, and the special glove orders are in the same form, attractively printed with an envelope to match, so that they have the Christmas spirit in the style of the order, besides its value. Under the plan of sending the order and letter the recipient picks his or her own present.

Saturday night Santa Claus was at Ehlers, and gave a bag of candy to every child who came in the store. The store will be open at night Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

HOSE HAS BIGGEST SMILE AND BIGGEST FEET ON ALL FORCE

Accused of having the biggest feet of any man on the force, Policeman Peter Hose, traffic man at Merchant and Fort streets, simply smiles—which calls attention to some other things Hose excels all other officers in.

Hose, for one thing, is the tallest man on the force. But the most noticeable thing about him is that he has the biggest smile on the force. He smiles at every machine that comes by, and smiles at pedestrians. If traffic goes wrong he smiles and straightens it out and if a driver breaks the ordinance he smiles as he tells him not to do it again. And as a result, everybody who passes Hose's corner is getting the habit and smiling too.

SAYS BENJAMIN KAMA HAS NO LEGAL RIGHT TO USE NAME "AYLETT"

"The man calling himself Ben Kama Aylett, who has faced three trials in three days, according to Friday's Star-Bulletin, is no relative of my family, and has, in fact, no right to the name of Aylett," says R. W. Aylett, city garbage department inspector.

"The man's real name is Benjamin Kama. He is the son of Louis Kama, and I have repeatedly warned him against using my family name."
